

Trained to Protect

Photos and Story by R.A. Smart

Man and his best friend have joined together to form a team to protect each other.

The dog trusts his owners judgements, and will not make a threatening move against anyone unless told to. No amount of harrassment will make these dogs go against their training.

The dogs are trained to "turn on" or protect by a voice command only. A scratch behind his ear is all that is needed to bond the partnership of the dog and his best friend.
